Business & Corporate Astrology

Critical action in business needs to be timed correctly. The best research and planning can miss the mark if executed at the wrong moment. Conversely, there are times when making your move is supported by the proper alignment or combination of celestial forces that yields the highest manifestation of the goals you are trying to achieve.

It has been said that astrology is “all about timing”. Though this is an oversimplification, the evaluation of proper timing can be applied to any division of time; years to minutes...even seconds. This information can be invaluable when organizing important meetings, signing contracts and starting projects. It can provide precision timing around when to buy and when to sell, when to travel and when to stay put.

In hiring practices, astrology can give you details about a potential employee that their resume and an interview cannot. The information that an individual's astrology chart yields about them is unparalleled in depth and complexity.

Anything relating to business and commerce can first be evaluated through astrology in order to optimize both short and long term efforts and expenditures.
